President Seeks Extension Of Selective Service

Washington, March 19 — President Truman joined Byrnes, and other American leaders, in asking Congress to extend the draft act so that we can execute our international obligations.

Mr. Truman told Congressional leaders that he is disturbed by Congressional threats to let the draft act expire May 15. The President's military advisers have told him that the country needs both a draft extension and universal military training to insure national security and back up our foreign policy.

As Secretary of State Byrnes said in his St. Patrick's Day address, he finds himself in a position where he is compelled to speak loudly in foreign affairs without enough military backing to inspire respect abroad.

Despite these words of warnings, Congressional leaders say Mr. Truman will have to fight the fight of his life if he wants the draft act extended for more than six weeks. They say Congress probably will ignore military training altogether.

Sam Porter, 32 Found Dead in Neon Jail

On last Monday morning about 1:30 the town officers of Neon went to the jail to get some dishes where the prisoners had been fed the evening before and discovered the body of a young man lying in a pool of blood, dead. The man was later identified as Sam Porter, 32, whose former home is unknown; no trace of any relatives other than his wife, Hulda Porter who lives near the Pike County line, is known.

According to the Coroner's jury Porter had apparently killed himself by slashing his wrists and throat with a small watch fob knife. It is said he claimed to be an ex-service man, however no one has been able to find out from what draft board he went, having no record at the local boards.

As this is written funeral arrangements have not been made due to an effort to locate his immediate family. At present the body is in care of the Craft Funeral Home at Neon.

The new office groups together all Red Cross services relating to health and medical activities; the office of the medical director, nursing, nutrition and disaster medical services, and first aid, water safety and accident prevention it was explained.

"The need for expanding Red Cross health and medical projects, provided in cooperation with other public agencies, has become increasingly important," Mr. O'Connor said. "Establishment of the Office for Health Services will insure a closely knit program that will conserve both funds and effort, and at the same time provide maximum benefit."

In addition to being responsible for Red Cross health and medical activities, Dr. McGinnes will maintain liaison with the Offices of the Surgeon General of the Army, Navy and Public Health Service, and with other medical and health agencies.

Dr. McGinnes came to Washington in October, 1943, as national medical director of the Red Cross. Prior to this he had served as medical director of the Red Cross Midwestern Area office in St. Louis.

Miss Culley and Dr. Garrett Craft United in Marriage

Miss Marie Anne Culley, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Culley of 35 Walnut avenue, Woodlawn, became the bride of Dr. T. Garrett Craft of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Craft of Millstone, Ky., at an exquisitely detailed ceremony solemnized Saturday morning, March second. They exchanged vows at eleven o'clock in the rectory of St. Michael's church, Edgington Lane, in the presence of relatives and close friends. Rev. Father Luckett officiated at the marriage vows. Miss Dorothy Mae Culley was her sister's maid of honor and only attendant and Mr. Stephen Bowen, student at the University of Louisville medical school, served Dr. Craft as best man.

The rectory was beautifully decorated by Duffy, florist, with palms, ferns and gladioli, arranged before an improvised altar, with the flowers and ferns also placed in huge vases at vantage points about the room.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Edward M. Culley. She was lovely in her bridal gown of white satin. The gown was designed with molded bodice, sweetheart neckline and long sleeves, full at the shoulders and tapering to points over the hands. The skirt was full and ended in a court train. Tiny satin covered buttons extended from the neckline to the low waist in the back. Her full length veil of tulle diffusion was held to the coiffure with a high tiara of stiffened lace. The veil was edged in heirloom lace, with a band of the lace around the blusher and a wide band of lace and appliques of the lace around the long train. She carried a shower bouquet of gardenias, centered with white orchids.

The maid of honor was attired in a frock of poudre blue net, designed with sweetheart neckline and short puffed sleeves. The tight bodice, featured a peplum of pink under blue net and the toe-length skirt was extremely full. She wore a shoulder length veil of blue net, held to the coiffure with tiny pink roses and carried a shower bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Culley, mother of the bride, wore an ensemble of navy blue with matching accessories. Orchids were worn on the shoulder. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Craft, was attired in a black frock with corresponding accessories and her corsage was composed of gardenias. Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Windsor hotel for members of the immediate families and close friends. The bride's table was centered with a tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, and surrounded with spring flowers. Late in the morning, Dr. and Mrs. Craft left for a wedding trip keeping their destination secret. Upon returning they will reside with her parents until Dr. Craft completes his internship. The bride traveled in a Hal Lewis suit of winter wine with brown accessories. The orchids from her bridal bouquet were worn in shoulder corsage.

Geo. W. McCoy Purchases Funeral Home Equipment

Mr. George W. McCoy was a visitor in the County Seat this week and informed us that he had purchased the Jenkins Funeral Home which heretofore has been owned and operated by the Consolidation Coal Company. Mr. McCoy stated that he had purchased all the equipment, leased the building and will continue the business in his own name. He has been employed by the former company for several years.

"God hath not promised skies always blue, flower-strewn pathways all our lives through. God hath not promised sun without rain, joy without sorrow, peace without pain. But God hath promised strength for the day, rest for the laborer, light on the way; grace for the trial, help from above, unflinching sympathy, undying love—Annie Johnson Flint.

A man may shed his hair and his teeth and still remain young, but he's old when he sheds his illusions. Exposed of gardenias.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Windsor hotel for members of the immediate families and close friends. The bride's table was centered with a tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, and surrounded with spring flowers. Late in the morning, Dr. and Mrs. Craft left for a wedding trip keeping their destination secret. Upon returning they will reside with her parents until Dr. Craft completes his internship. The bride traveled in a Hal Lewis suit of winter wine with brown accessories. The orchids from her bridal bouquet were worn in shoulder corsage.

Mrs. Craft is a graduate of St. Joseph's Academy and a former student nurse at the Wheeling Hospital School of Nursing. Dr. Craft is a graduate of University of Kentucky Lexington, and the University of Louisville Medical School. He is now serving his internship at the Wheeling hospital. Dr. Craft is a member of Alpha Kappa Medical fraternity.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. William W. Craft of Millstone, Ky., Dr. James Craft of Harlan, Ky., Dr. B. W. Craft of Whitesburg, Ky., parents and brothers of Dr. Craft, and Lt. and Mrs. Edward Culley of Boston, Mass., brother and sister-in-law of the bride.

Coal's Postwar Problems to be Aired by Industry at Mining Congress Apr. 29th

Washington, D. C. Mar. 20—Having achieved record production during the war in the face of manpower and material shortages, the coal industry is now turning its attention to its postwar economic problems and to further modernization of its equipment and mining practices. To discuss its future and consider improvements in methods of mining and equipment, coal mining men will assemble in Cincinnati, Ohio, April 29 and 30 for the Annual Coal Convention of the American Mining Congress.

For the past few months a national program committee composed of leading coal mine operators and allied manufacturers under the direction of George L. Smith, vice president, Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal Co., Indiana, Pa., have been busy drafting a program designed to bring out the best thought of the industry on these problems.

A preview of the program for the 2-day session reveals that discussions will revolve about such subjects as: economic problems of the industry; new designs for coal burning locomotives; superiority of coal for central and domestic heating; improvements in present methods in coal preparation for markets and the development of new processes in this field; problems of mechanical mining both in thick and thin coal seams; maintenance of coal mine equipment; mine safety; modernization of mine organization; and problems of coal stripping.

Wallace Urges Health Program

Washington, March 19—Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace has issued a statement urging adoption of legislation to set up a national health program.

Wallace says low health standards, illness and injuries of workers reduce productivity and deprive the nation of billions of dollars of goods and services every year.

Specifically, he estimates that American business suffers a loss of some four billion dollars every year due to non-industrial sickness and accidents.

UNRRA Given Major Problem

Atlantic City, N. J. March 20—Desperate shortage of food in a hungry world posed for UNRRA today its major immediate problem—whether to recommend sharp curtailment of relief aid to Japan and Germany in order to give preference treatment to Allied liberated lands.

The issue was flung squarely into the fourth council of the international relief organization by ruddy-faced, strident-voiced Sir Carl Berendsen, delegate from New Zealand, who insisted that first right to available food resources should go to the victims of Axis aggression.

Emergence of the question on the council floor gave fresh significance to the mission of Herbert Hoover to Europe on a survey of food needs. Hoover, chairman of President Truman's special committee on relief, has taken the position that no boundary lines should be drawn for such aid.

THURSDAY, MARCH 21, 1946

In recent weeks we have read and heard some talk concerning flood control on the Cumberland River and its tributaries. To control the floods and protect towns and cities from inundation as much property loss would necessitate the building of several dams to curb the surplus waters.

One of the proposed dams would probably be located near the Letcher-Harlan line on Poor Fork.

Here, let us say, could be made one of the finest fishing resorts to be found in the State—which we believe would add much toward a fine recreational center for a big industrial population of Eastern Kentucky who are hungry for some kind of wholesome recreation. It would have an important effect upon the whole morale of this section. This section of the state is woefully deficient in recreational facilities.

There are also dozens of tracts of land that could be used for a game reservation.

Therefore the flood control project would serve a two-fold purpose.

Last Friday at the Rotary Luncheon hour we heard Mr. Corbett Lovely our County Farm Agent discuss the needed improvements on our farms throughout eastern Kentucky. He pointed out the need of improving our farms, protecting our livestock, and most important of all the need for better homes to blend in with the beautiful scenery which we already have. Many homes, he stated, which are built for temporary purposes turn out to be permanent ones and usually stand and are used for a score or more years.

It is our belief that if we are to keep in step with other sections of the state we must urge and encourage the building of better homes and help to create better living conditions as well as better recreational facilities.

It should be our effort to improve our homes and our schools constantly.

"GOSSIP TOWN"

Have you ever heard of Gossip Town,
On the shore of Falsehood Bay, Where old Dame Rumor in rustling gown
Is going the livelong day?

It isn't far to Gossip Town.
For people who want to go,
Idleness Train will take you down,
In just an hour or so.

Thoughtless Road is a popular route,
And most folks start that way;
But it's steep and if you don't watch out
You'll land in Falsehood Bay.

You glide through the Valley of Vicious Folks,
And into the Tunnel of Hate,
And crossing the Add-to Bridge,
You walk right into the city gate.

The principal street is called

They Say,
And I've heard in the public
well,
That breezes that blow from
Falsehood Bay
Are laden with "Don't you tell!"

In midst of the town is Tell-tale Park,
You're never quite safe
while there;
For its owner is Madame Suspicious Remark,
Who lives on the street Don't Care.

Just back of the park is Slander Row,
'Twas there Good Name died
Pierced by a dart from Jealousy's bow,
In the hands of Envious
Pride.

From Gossip Town peace long since fled,
But trouble, grief and woe,
And sorrow and care you'll meet instead.
If you ever chance to go.

A fund for the work of the Kentucky Development Association in bringing industrial plants to the state was over-subscribed.

Business men are willing to pay for trying to regain Kentucky's place in the industrial sun.

That is encouraging, but we can't go forward industrially so long as our schools, our public health service and other human welfare institutions are a disgrace to the Commonwealth.

And by the same process of reasoning, our social welfare institutions are largely dependent upon industrial growth, because industry produces wealth and taxes must come from those who have money.

Recently a young man with an agricultural college degree and ample capital told me he was thinking of going to another state to buy a farm.

"Why leave Kentucky?" I asked him. "We have good soil. It is a bit run down, but basically it is all right."

"I have small children," he replied, "and I want them to go to first class schools. In this county the rural schools have a seven months term, and salaries are too low for us to expect good teachers."

That shut me up. Industrial workers leave Kentucky factory towns for the same reason. They want better schools for their children.

According to Health Commissioner Blackerby, eighty per cent of the industrially employed in Kentucky are without plant medical or nursing service. Because of poor sanitary conditions, and inadequate medical service mainly, industrial workers lose an average of five days in a year. And the days completely lost are only a small part of the story. Subnormal health lowers efficiency tremendously, which automatically reduces production.

States with better living and working conditions attract the best workers, as a rule, giving manufacturers a considerable advantage over Kentucky plants.

Many small manufacturers hope to Kentucky with the hope of getting cheaper labor than they would have to employ in northern states. Ninety-five per cent of the 260,000 industrial workers in Kentucky are in plants employing less than 100 people. But with health and educational standards as low as they are, industrialists may not get cheaper labor after all. Lower wages maybe, but inferior labor. Many of our best native workers go to other states because schools, health service and living conditions generally are better, and where factories are large enough to provide plant medical service and higher compensation insurance.

So, you see, the reforms, the improvements advocated by the Committee for Kentucky must go hand in hand with the kind of industrial growth the Kentucky Development Association is promoting.

There are a few short sighted industrialists who think the revelations by the Committee for Kentucky hurt the state's good name beyond the boundary line. The truth is that teamwork between all organizations interested in a better Kentucky would, in a few years, give the state more good publicity than anything imaginable.

We have been sweeping our dirt under rugs long enough.

Change in Japs Is Noted by Experts

Ruin Caused by War in Japan Brings New Spirit.

PEARL HARBOR, H. I.—The tremendous physical devastation wrought in Japan by war has been matched by the spiritual upheaval of the people, Sir George Sansom, British member of the far eastern commission, said.

Sansom, prewar counselor of the British embassy in Tokyo and an authority on Japan, said the Japanese people feel they were deceived about the war.

"They don't have the same trust in government as before," Sansom said. He added, however, that this disillusionment had nothing to do with the emperor, but applied to civil and military authority.

The emperor's denial of divinity was generally well received by the people, he said, although some were puzzled. He remarked that it was his impression in prewar years that the Japanese as a whole never believed in the divinity of the emperor, but revered him as a symbol of their government.

Sansom said that Japanese unrest had not crystallized as yet, the people being too preoccupied with problems of food and housing. "When those needs are satisfied they'll begin to think about politics," he asserted.

He said it was impossible to tell what parties or type of government the people might favor, pending the outcome of the first postwar general election next month, but added:

"Thinking Japanese feel that the most sane type of government is a constitutional monarchy on the lines of the British system."

Under such a monarchy, he said, the emperor would have little power but would be able to exercise "a certain moral leadership."

Tells How Guards Drove Prisoners Over Cliff

NUERNBERG. — A Mauthausen concentration camp guard told the war crimes tribunal that he saw eight prisoners hurl themselves over a 125-foot quarry cliff while SS men lashed them.

The SS guards called this "playing paratrooper," he said.

The witness was Alois Hoellriegel, a 36-year-old Austrian barber. He said he watched from a guard tower in 1941 while two SS men herded the prisoners toward the cliff.

"They beat the prisoners until the prisoners threw themselves over the cliff in desperation," he asserted.

Hoellriegel said he assumed such cliff-jumping incidents had occurred "a thousand times." He knew for certain they had happened several times and presumed that the Nazi leaders knew about it.

Hoellriegel testified that Ernest Kaltenbrunner and Baldur von Schirach, two of the defendants, had visited Mauthausen and were familiar with conditions there. He pointed a finger dramatically at Schirach in the defendants' box. Schirach removed his dark glasses and nodded curtly.

Report Power of A-Bomb Is Now Thousandfold

SAN FRANCISCO. — Charles E. Moore, San Francisco industrialist, said General MacArthur had told him in Tokyo that America is equipped with atomic bombs equivalent to 20 million tons of TNT, or a thousand times more powerful than the one dropped on Hiroshima.

Moore, in a talk before the Commonwealth club, related his conversation with MacArthur in the general's Tokyo headquarters as follows:

"The general said warfare is no longer warfare—it is a question of civilization. This is what he said with no restrictions as to secrecy: 'The finest explosive in the world is our TNT, but that bomb dropped on Hiroshima was equal to 20,000 tons of TNT. It is already obsolete. We are now ready with one that is equal to 20 million tons of TNT.'"

Inhalation of Aluminum Dust Relieves Silicosis

DENVER. — Relief from silicosis has been achieved by use of aluminum dust inhaled into the lungs. Researchers said the new treatment may lead to prevention of the dread disease.

The Colorado university school of medicine announced that treatments it was conducting gave relief to those who have contracted the disease by breathing air contaminated with rock dust containing silica.

Researchers said the treatment relieved symptoms of the disease, permitting patients to breathe in comfort, but did not effect a cure.

Cardui, many women say, has brought relief from the cramp-like aches and pains of functional periodic distress. "I like the system which lets a man quit when he wants to, and wish it might prevail everywhere. One of the reasons why I am opposed to slavery is just here. What is the true condition of the laborer? I take it that it is best for all to leave each man free to acquire property as far as he can. Some will get wealthy. I don't believe in law to prevent a man from getting rich. It would do more harm than good. So while we do not propose any war upon capital, we do wish to allow the humblest man an equal chance to get rich with everybody else."

Stuart Robinson School Highlights

We have been very lucky in being able to purchase a new Bell and Howell 16 mm. projector. It came last week, and is a great improvement over the old one. The old one has been sent to the factory for repair, and when it is returned we will be able to show pictures all the way through without having to stop at the half for reel changing.

Dr. and Mrs. L. Amick spent Friday night and Saturday morning visiting on our campus. They are from Georgia, and came to look over the work in Guerrant Presbytery. Rev. W. L. Cooper plans to be away on business the week end of March 22.

Visitors on the campus this week end were: Pvt. Raymond Norman, Camp Atterbury, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Ballard Taylor and Coy, Slemp; Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Livingston, Slemp; Mr. and Mrs. Milford, Slemp; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Fields and Rhudell, Whitesburg; Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Combs, Whitesburg; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Raney, Pikeville; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. From now on the nations are like a family in a house with walls built of dynamite. What would the members of such a family do if, like ourselves, they could not move to another house? I think they would walk softly and take care not to irritate one another. —Booth Tarkington, 1945.

Card of Thanks

We wish to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to our many friends for their kind words and floral tributes given us through the death of our loving father, Gabriel Holbrook who died of a heart attack, February 8th. We shall never forget you and may God's blessings be upon each and every one of you. As we feel in our hearts our loss is Heaven's gain.

—Mrs. Gabriel Holbrook and Children.

THE REQUEST WRITTEN BY GABRIEL HOLBROOK TO HIS CHILDREN WAS AS FOLLOWS:

"My request to my children when I am gone: I have prayed that you will do these things for me. Do not take up bad habits of any kind, learn to love everybody and hate no one, when you marry let no man or woman come in between you and your husband or wife. Do common work but do not brute yourself, take good care of your health in due time. Forgive me for being ill to you, I didn't mean all I said to you. Trust no one too far except Jesus and trust him at all times. If you will do these things we can meet by the will of God. Be good to your mother, she has been good to me and has toiled through life for you. Stand by her at all times like she has stood by you.

Your loving daddy,
—Gabriel.

In Memory of Our Loving Father

We wonder, oh yes, we wonder

Why he was taken away
From the ones that loved him
so dearly
More than any one can say

He was a sweet and loving father

More than any one will ever know

He has left our home so empty
And we miss him so.

Since he's gone we sure do
miss him,

With his comfort and tender
care

He has gone to dwell with Jesus

Some day his children will be there.

Yes, I know you tried so hard daddy

All you did was good and right
But our home is sad and lonesome

And I feel so sad tonight.

Before my daddy left me
He spoke these words so kind

Now love ones do not grieve
for me

For I am going to that sunny clime.

The angels came so silently
It was at the break of dawn

They called my daddy to heaven

And we were left alone.

Yes, I miss you precious daddy
When life's chores on earth

are o'er,
We shall all join together

On that bright eternal shore.

I know my daddy is waiting
Upon that blissful shore

In Heaven we shall join him
There to dwell forever more.

Written by his daughter,
—Mary Evelyn Holbrook.

I want to express my sincerest heart-felt appreciation to each and every person who assisted in any way during my illness. When the call came for the donating of blood for transfusions, you willingly answered; and in the same generous manner, you gave your money to help bear hospital expenses. Out of the goodness of your hearts came many things to be thankful for such as beautiful flowers, gifts, cards, personal visits, etc.

After three and one-half months of severe suffering in the St. Joseph hospital, I was able to leave the hospital and stay out in town another month, finally I got to come home. Oh! how wonderful to be home again. You, my friends helped bring me home. Thank God for everyone of you, and may He bestow his richest blessings upon you for being so kind hearted and willing to help those who are in

The narrow plans, the little strength put forth, the little study as to the best methods, call loudly for reform. ## Surplus Motor Vehicles For Sale

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 11.—A report on sales of surplus motor vehicles by Rowland D. Schell, War Assets Corporation Associate Regional Director for Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, and West Virginia, shows that from December 15 to February 15, inclusive, a total of 1,983 vehicles were sold and out of that number 1,208 went to veterans, 301 to other priority groups, and 744 to dealers.

"It is our desire to assist and help the veteran in every way possible in securing the Government surplus property that he needs in establishing himself in a civilian occupation," Schell said.

The War Assets Corporation's office hours are from 8:00 a. m. to 4:45 p. m. Monday through Friday, with the exception of legal holidays, and it is Schell's desire to eliminate, entirely, the necessity for veterans to be at WAC offices prior to 8:00 a. m. on Thursday and Friday, veteran's priority days.

In explaining a new procedure designed to give all veterans a fair and equal chance in purchasing surplus motor vehicles, Schell said, "The men in charge of this operation in all of our WAC offices will have cards numbered up to one or two hundred. They will count the veterans attending the sale and place a corresponding number of cards in a box. Then each veteran will be invited to draw a card from the box and the number drawn will determine the veteran's purchasing position in line."

National sales for the first two weeks in 1946, January 1 to January 15, inclusive, indicate that veterans are receiving a high percentage of the vehicles being sold. Sales of motorcycles and scooters during the two weeks period were as follows: U. S. Government, 64; state and local governments, none; veterans, 122; and dealers, 967. Trucks sold during the same period were: U. S. Government, 477; state and local governments, 188; veterans, 1,341; and dealers,

2,212.

Schell pointed out that under the law, the U. S. Government has top priority, state and local governments second, and veterans third claim on all surplus property.

Since November, 1945, in the national program veterans have received about 75 per cent of the passenger (staff) cars declared surplus by the services. The demand has been so heavy and the supply so extremely limited, however, that it has been possible to fill only a small part of the requests. Issuance of certificates for passenger cars and station wagons was discontinued as of January 28, 1946, but prior to that date, some 86,000 veterans had received certificates. This figure represents 40 times the available inventory for such vehicles.

Crippled Children Living in Palace

Prince Umberto Provides Home for Stricken.

ROME. — Thirty children — once healthy and normal, but today blind or crippled refugees from Cassino and other Italian towns where the Allies fought the Germans—have found a home in Rome's royal palace.

Boys and girls, 4 to 12 years old, some without legs and arms, others with faces marked with powder burns from mines and bombs, are living in the Quirinal, the palace of Prince Umberto, lieutenant general of the realm.

More than a year ago the prince assigned the children a building facing the principal garden of the Quirinal.

The children are wards of the Italian Chapter of the Sovereign Order of Malta, organized in 1099 to take part in the Crusades. Today the order supports hospitals, child clinics, and other welfare projects in many European countries.

Found by American, British and Brazilian soldiers in the battle area during the fighting for Central Italy, they were given first aid and hospitalization and later brought to Rome.

"The greatest difficulty," said Prince Umberto recently, "was to remove the traces of nervous shock from which they were suffering."

The prince described how the attentions and care of five Sisters of Charity, members of the blue-garbed order of hospital nuns founded by St. Vincent de Paul, have helped the children.

Because of their frequent visits, the prince and his children are well known to most of the children.

When, during a recent visit, seven-year-old blind Vittorio called him over to show him a toy, the prince explained that Vittorio was in his mother's arms when a German bullet killed her, grazed the child's temple and cut the optic nerve.

Umberto pointed out little Italo, aged 10, who lost not his sight but also both arms below the elbow.

"While most of the children who have lost their sight are learning to feel things with their hands," the prince said, "Italo is doubly handicapped, but still has the spunk to take a lively interest in everything."

Red Cross Help for War

Bride to Be Adequate

WASHINGTON. — The American Red Cross announced that it was assigning recreation and social workers to ships bringing war brides to New York and San Francisco.

Red Cross chapters in the port cities will assist wives and children of servicemen and veterans on their arrival and others will help out in towns where they have long stop-overs.

In towns to which the wives and children are going, the Red Cross said it would make sure the relatives expected and were prepared to receive them. It said that the war department had asked it to discourage plans for husbands and other relatives to meet incoming ships.

The army had set aside special ships to bring war brides to this country.

Becoming a Father Is

Busy Day for Chester

WALPOLE, MASS.—Chester Orlando, former G.I., calmed down from the excitement of becoming a father.

A maternity hospital awakened Orlando to tell him he was a father of the three-pound baby for which an incubator would have to be brought from Boston.

Orlando set off by automobile. A few miles from Boston his car collided with a truck, injuring his leg. He limped to a telephone, summoned a police ambulance which rushed him to Boston, then back to Norwood with the incubator.

He returned home. The kitchen range had become overheated and set fire to the house. The fire was extinguished.

"We haven't lost a father yet," a hospital attendant said, crossing her fingers.

Dental Technicians Are Scarce in U. S. Army

TOKYO. — Allied headquarters recently listed dental laboratory technicians, orthopedic mechanics and medical laboratory technicians in "scarce" categories, subject to retention for six months after they become eligible for discharge. It said Washington had listed medical and dental officers with adjusted service rating of 60 points or 39 months' service or those more than 45 years old as eligible for discharge.

Hopes for Hosiery

Hang by a Thread

WASHINGTON. — The only bright note on the lady's hosiery front isn't too bright.

The Civilian Production administration says it will be six months to a year before the shortage is over but that it should ease up very soon. Nylon production increases.

NEWS in the WORLD of RELIGION

BY M.W. REID

Protestant church members are being asked to give up the equivalent of one meal a day during Lent, or some customary expenditure, or to take a sacrificial gift from their savings account "to help meet the sufferings of their fellowmen whom the war has ravaged." This "sacrifice" during Lent is urged by the Church Committee on Overseas Relief and Reconstruction, and is made by Dr. Leslie B. Moss, Dr. Robbins W. Barstow, and Dr. Fred Atkins Moore, heading relief agencies. The gifts through the churches will be used to purchase and ship wheat, canned goods, dried milk, blankets, shoes, sleeping bags, babies' layettes, medicines and hospital supplies for Asia and for Europe.

One of the most hopeful signs in American Education is that Christian laymen are seeing the necessity of their working among children in Sunday Schools, says Dr. Paul Calvin Payne, of the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, Philadelphia. "When Jesus was asked who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven, he called a little child and set him in the midst: it is the supreme irony of history that this great insight was never caught by his followers," says Dr. Payne. "When in our time it was finally caught, it was by a group of evil men who used it in effort to stamp out everything Jesus stood for and they came within a hair of succeeding. If there is one lesson that should be burned into our souls by the tragic events of our time, it is this: if you want to change a whole civilization overnight — start with the children. If you want to plant a conviction indelibly into a society, plant it in the hearts of the children."

"The remarkable achievements of the Christian missionaries are but an expression of the power and virility of Christianity," said Dr. H. H. Kung, vice-president of China's Executive Yuan recently. "Being a laymen I will not venture into the field of theology. But my study of history and observations of the ways of individuals and nations make me feel that Christianity and the Christian Church have played a vital role in the preservation of the continuity of culture and civilization which has been repeatedly endangered by the unholly greed and cruelties of the aggressors."

Nanking Theological Seminary, the leading Protestant institution for the training of the Christian ministry in China, is returning to its war-riddled campus in Nanking, and has opened its spring term on March 8, according to cable advice. When the Japanese drove into Nanking, early in the war with China, the students and faculty "refused" to Shanghai; later a large group of students and faculty "refused" to Shanghai; later a large group of students and faculty went westward on foot to Szechuan Province and settled in Chengtu. The Shanghai group is now back in Nanking, and the Chngtu group hopes to follow shortly. The Rev. Handel Lee, D. D., noted Chinese educator, is president of the Seminary and is Nanking.

After one hundred trips across the Atlantic by steamship during the past fifty years, eighty-one-year-old Dr. John R. Mott, one of American Protestantism's most noted lay leaders, made his one hundred first trip recently by airplane. During this trip he presided over meetings of the provisional committee of the World Council of Churches, and visited church leaders in England, Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Russia, Germany and Holland. During his more than a half century of leadership, Dr. Mott has helped in the founding and presiding over the World Committee of the Y.M.C.A., the International Missionary Council, the World Student Christian Federation and other bodies. On this trip, Sweden decorated him with the Prince Carl Medal for "distinction in international humanitarian work." After World War I, in which he had charge of the Y.M.C.A.'s ministry to prisoners of all nations, he was decorated by a number of European governments.

"The fundamental teachings of religion must be at the base of that essential harmony and mutual respect between men of all walks of life and of all creeds and faiths and races," says Captain Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota. "Under these teachings there can be no 'wrong side of the tracks' in our cities. We cannot point with pride to our churches and close our eyes to our slums. We cannot be smugly content with Sunday and church schools of all faiths, filled with one-half of our communities' children, and ignore the other half of our children who are not receiving any religious training or education whatsoever."

Avanell Polly, Stuart Robinson School, spent several days at her home here last week.

William M. Fields, MM2c of Mayking, Ky., is back in the states and is expected home soon on leave. He has served in the Navy 29 months and has spent 26 months over sea.

LET'S WORK FOR INDUSTRIAL PEACE

Men want to work.

Management wants to produce.

The public wants to buy.

The country wants prosperity.

Yet good times have been held up by a agony of strikes.

Strikes breed bitterness... hunger... and economic stagnation.

For the sake of our country, let's change this! Change it fast. Time is running out!

Let's work out a way to get — and keep — industrial peace and prosperity.

THE FIRST STEP

Isn't a sound national labor policy... one that treats workers and management exactly alike and above all one that is fair to the public... the first step toward that peace?

Sincerely believing this to be so, we offer this program for peace and production and prosperity:

1. Make employers and unions equal in responsibility under the law.

2. Let Congress set the rules for genuine collective bargaining, free from coercion and violence, and then let government enforce these rules with strict impartiality.

3. Provide safeguards for the public against strikes or boycotts arising from disputes between unions.

4. Insure against strikes until all orderly procedures for settling disputes have been exhausted.

Your representatives in Congress have the power to establish this pattern for an enduring and a fair labor peace. Let them know how you feel about it. Urge them to act promptly on legislation to include these four points.

Time alone won't bring industrial peace. Doing nothing won't bring it. Positive action is the only way. For your own sake and for the future of our country, let your voice be heard!

FREE! A timely, authoritative booklet entitled "The Public and Industrial Peace," gives full details of this program, including specific suggestions for legislation. It is a useful handbook for every citizen, program chairman, or group leader. A postcard brings it. Address: National Association of Manufacturers, 14 West 49th Street, New York 20, N. Y.

Ninety — one settlements, ranging in amount from $4.60 to $315.72 (both overcharges on used cars) were accepted by the panels. The list of items on which overcharges had been made, according to the agreed settlements, included automobiles, trucks, automobile services, groceries, meat, food served in restaurants, gas stove, radio, and clothing.

KENTUCKY RESIDENTS RECEIVED $1,005,984 IN BENEFIT PAYMENTS IN 1945 FROM MUTUAL LIFE

New York, March 19—Kentucky residents received a total of $1,005,984 in benefit payments from The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York in 1945, Ralph H. Ruch, manager for the company at Louisville disclosed today. Approximately $480,440 of this amount was paid to beneficiaries in death claims, while the remaining $525,544 was paid to living policyholders of the company in matured endowments, annuities, dividends and other benefits.

The Mutual Life, Mr. Ruch said, has about $44,502,800 of life insurance in force in Kentucky, represented by more than 19,051 industrial policies.

Pointing out that the company's assets in the State provide an important source of capital for local enterprises, Mr. Ruch revealed that The Mutual Life has about $9,077,289 invested in the State alone. Principal investments in Kentucky are in public utility, railroad and other industrial bonds and policy loans.

THE GARDEN

WARM-CROP HOTBEDS
By John S. Gardner, Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics

The advantages in having home grown plants of "warm" crops—tomatoes, peppers and eggplants—are in having them at the time needed and in the correct varieties. The latter applies particularly to tomatoes when wilt-resistant sorts are required, in fact, absolutely needed, for tomato wilt is an almost universal complaint of Kentucky gardeners. The hotbed could be of standard size, 3 by 6 feet, but not many gardeners need the plants such a bed would accommodate. Instead, a bed such as described here several weeks ago for raising cabbage and broccoli plants is ample, as it holds 100 plants easily, quite enough for the average garden.

Seed sowing time is March 15th at the latest, to produce tomatoes in late June, peppers two weeks later, and eggplants by July 15. When the seedlings are large enough to handle, they are reset in the hotbed in 2-inch square areas, there to stand until garden-setting, May 1 to 15, depending on the latitude. Crowded so closely, however, tomato plants may become "leggy".

All three of these warm-crop veterans will benefit from being transplanted again, but into a cold frame, as it will be late April. The cold frame is a bottomless box made of 12-inch boards banked with earth, straw or manure, then covered with tobacco canvas. It should be located in full sun. The plants may be set directly into the frame-soil, but the use of individual paper pots or dirt bands (handled by all seedsmen) is better. The 4-inch size pot is suitable for individual tomatoes and egg plants or for two pepper plants.

Ths. for 25 tomato plants, 25 eggplants and 50 peppers (sweet and "hot"), a 9-foot square cold frame is ample, and 75 dirt bands.

Early tomato varieties are Break O' Day or Valiant (both wilt-resistant); eggplants, New York Purple; hot peppers, Chili and Birdseye (for steak sauce); and sweet peppers, California Wonder or Ruby Giant, smooth sorts for stuffing.

GEMS OF THOUGHT
Tomorrow's sweetest joys will be the memory of today's noblest deeds.
What we really and vitally know is but a bright spot in a universe of darkness.
One must have plenty of time for brooding if he would hatch a thought with wings.
Infancy, youth, manhood and old age are the spring, summer, autumn and winter of life.
To denote sin as we see it in others is far easier than to renounce it as it exists in ourselves.
Happiness builds her house out of the materials furnished by true manhood and pure womanhood.
In the deepest and truest lives the divine "I ought" is far more powerful than the human, "you must."
Genius is too often like an imperfect electric light, brilliant at times, but unsteady and frequently flickering.
Christianity teaches the brotherhood of man, and insists that, instead of preying on each other, men should pray for each other.
Your church is the bulwark upon which character is built. This was recognized by your forefathers and the necessity for this essential is just as important today.

At the university here, Miss Max is a junior co-operative student in the College of Business Administration. Under the noted Cincinnati plan of co-operative technological education, founded here in 1906, students spend alternating periods of eight weeks learning theory in campus classroom and laboratory and correlating this with practical experience gained through work in industry.

BLUEGRASS AND HORSES
Bluegrass, specially nourishing for live stock and horses, has an important bearing on the prosperity of Kentucky. More than $30 million is invested in horse farms and millions more in the blooded animals. Bluegrass contributes to improved breeds of cattle. A good, firm, tight cigarette."

SAFETYGRAMS
(by Fred W. Braun the Safety Man)
The 1945 accident toll in America as reported by the National Safety Council showed 96,000 people killed and 10,300,000 injured.
The motor vehicle was responsible for 28,500 deaths, an increase of 17 per cent over 1944.
In the seven war months of 1945, traffic deaths went up only 1.3 per cent over the same period of 1944, but from V-J Day until the end of the year, the traffic death toll shot up 36 per cent.
Just as soon as the American public was released from gas rationing, the celebration started.
The traffic spree has not as yet ended. The evidence is piling up daily and America is out to kill as many people as possible during 1947.
Think it over—will you be one of the victims? Will you be a driver who will add to the victims?

See Crippled Vets Walk Again
Doctor Said They Could, So Soldiers Are Given New Lease on Life.
ATLANTIC CITY.—They laughed when he got up to walk. So he went to the deserted basement of the army's Thomas M. England General hospital at night and walked anyhow—on legs that were labeled "useless," says the Associated Press.
With him went other wounded veterans—boys hit in the spine by bullets or shrapnel. They had been doomed to spend the rest of their lives on their backs until a young doctor from Highland Park, N. J., Capt. William Kuhn Jr., 30, talked them into believing they could walk again.
These men are paraplegic patients—more technically known as victims of transverse myelitis. Their spinal cords wholly or partially severed, they are without muscular control from the waist down.
General Patton became such a paraplegic as a result of the auto accident in Germany, but the former commander of the 3rd army lost his last battle when pneumonia set in.
The army's public relations office has released the dramatic story of the hospital's paraplegic ward, and of Captain Kuhn, ward officer for the paraplegic section.
All Now Walking.
A year ago, not a single paraplegic patient was on his feet, and only two could use a wheel chair. Today, all of the 93 men—comprising the largest paraplegic ward in the country—are walking.
They are driving automobiles. They are wheeling themselves up and down this resort city.
"A year ago these were the forgotten men," Captain Kuhn said. "Their morale was so low it didn't exist at all, and the mortality rate was high. They knew that of the paraplegics of the last war, only 1 per cent survive today."
"Our goal for the 1,400 army paraplegics of World War II is at least 90 per cent survival. We'll make it."
Many, he said, already have been discharged, and are self-supporting civilians.
Mortalities Among Paraplegic.
"I told these men what they were up against," he said. "I told them it was up to them to do something about it, and that they could if they would only try."
"It was tough at first, but one by one they tried to walk. Now look at them."
"Walking, for a paraplegic, is a difficult and arduous process. Without muscular control in the hips and legs, the actual work is done by the muscles of the chest and arms now marvelously developed in most of them."
Laughed at First.
"When we first tried to teach these men to walk, other doctors and patients laughed at us, so we went at night to the basement where the amputees practiced during the day."
"There, in the privacy, we taught these men, first, to regain their sense of balance, and then to raise and swing forward one side of their bodies, raise and swing forward the other, until they were 'walking.'"
"We salvage what is left of their bodies, and overtrain it to perform the functions of the 'dead' portions."
Unfamiliar with paraplegics when he was assigned here, Captain Kuhn employed no new medical techniques, but resorted to a combination of "personality and psychology."
The men, taught to be independent, are given a minimum of physical assistance.

Ah—a capitalist!
NOW—it's just a penny in a piggy bank. But soon his piggy will be full. Then the pennies will be taken to a real savings bank.
The bank will put his pennies to work. Some of these pennies almost certainly will be invested in electric utility securities. Banks prefer these securities because sound business management has made them a dependable investment—as dependable as electric service itself.
So, the little boy has a personal stake in the electric industry. Practically every American has—millions as direct stockholders, other millions as savings bank depositors and life insurance owners.
This is the American economic system. It's called capitalism. It's a good system. It helped make America great. And it will continue to open doors of opportunity for all little boys and girls with piggy banks.

U. K. GETS HOUSING FOR 300 VETERANS

The addition of barracks, designed for 300 single students, and 50 living units for married veterans, to be added to those in Cooperstown, will make new housing facilities available soon for students at the University of Kentucky.

The barracks which were allocated to the University by the Federal Housing Administration, will be partitioned into 12 suites each, with two men living in a suite.

Work on water, sewer, and heat lines will be started before the barracks reach the campus.

The barracks are a temporary means of easing the critical housing shortage at the University of Kentucky.

Married veterans are provided with 200 prefabricated homes and the 50 more will be brought to the campus soon. The University has contracted with the Ford Willow Run plant for 100 additional prefabricated houses, which will bring the total of those living units in Cooperstown to 350.

Program of 4-H Club Work in 1946

The following is a report given by Mr. Myrel Brown at the 4-H Banquet, which is a summary of the activities and accomplishments in 1945:

The 4-H Rally Day was held in May with 150 members attending. Eighty-nine girls entered the style show, modeling garments that was made by the individual.

Forty-one members attended camp in July. The School board furnished the bus and the 4-H Council paid for the gasoline. The members all heartily agree that this was a most educational and helpful work.

The Kiwanis Club of Jenkins awarded last year, and for several years previously, $60 to the club members for garden prizes.

4-H Achievement Day was held in September with 650 people attending. Fourteen clubs participated in five minute programs. Twenty-six windows were placed in Whitesburg with 51 girls exhibiting canned goods. Mrs. Nolan contributed $20 for canning prizes. The Lions Club collected $556.25 to finance windows.

District Achievement Day was held at Quicksand in October with 4 4-H champions from Letcher County attending: Wilma Faye Sumpter, County canning champion, received a blue ribbon in recognition of her canning achievements; Georgetta Collins, County style review champion, was also awarded a blue ribbon, and Irene Mullins County garden champion, received a red ribbon.

The Blackey 4-H Club was county champion club and also District champion, receiving a prize of $10 for county and $25 for the district. Little Cowan was second best club in the County and also won a prize from the Power Company.

4-H Club Play Day was held in June with 200 4-H members and parents attending. This was voted an annual event.

There were 50 clubs in 1945 with 2122 members enrolled with each taking one or more projects.

The 4-H Leaders and Officers conference was held with 89 officers and leaders attending from the various clubs.

Spray or Dust — For 'Peace' In the Garden

Watch for destructive insects as soon as the first little leaves poke through the soil in your garden. They are unusually ravenous for tender young foliage, shoots, and buds, and the smart gardener will be on hand with the proper control even before the pests show up.

Two types of insect are well known nuisances—those that suck the juices or sap of the plant, as aphids or plant lice, and those that chew or bite off bits of the plant. The work of the first is seen in general drooping and unhealthy appearance of the plant; the work of the second shows up in actual riddling of the leaves and other plant parts.

For sucking insects the spray or dust must hit and cover the insect, actually smothering it. Stomach poisons are required for destroying chewing insects. The material is dusted or sprayed thoroughly on all surfaces of the plant so as to make a deposit. When the insect starts to eat the plant, it also takes in some of the poison and is killed.

Either dusting or spraying can be effective if properly done with a good insecticide. Now that the war is over, many of the old brands and various new ones will be plentiful. You may want to adventure with some of the new ones, but always follow directions. In small gardens dusting is perhaps even easier than spraying. Here's a simple apparatus for applying insecticide dust which you yourself can easily prepare:

Take a square of cheesecloth, a strong string, and a slender stick. Spread the cheesecloth on a flat surface and pile the insecticide dust in the center. Gather the cloth by the four corners and tie the string securely around it, leaving the contents resting loosely inside.

Hold the bag with one hand directly over the plant and strike it gently on one side with the stick (see illustration). Part of an old broom handle will do nicely.

The dust should cover all parts of the plant. It will stick better if put on when the plants are moist with dew, rain, or water from the hose. Do not put it on just before a shower or your work will be useless. By taking a little extra care, the dust will reach the underside of the leaves as well as the upper surfaces. It is important to choose a day when no wind is stirring.

If you spray instead of dust, see that the leaves and other parts of the plant are dry so that the solution will not be diluted as it strikes the surface. A hand spray with a glass jar attached is simple to use. The glass can be readily cleaned after using, and strong solutions cannot corrode it as they might a metal container. In using a spray, the same as with a dust, be sure to reach the underside of the foliage where insects are even more likely to be feeding than on top.

and read the minutes of the previous meeting. The members responded the roll call by naming a kitchen utensil. The program was, "Home, the Place We Live."

Letcher County Farm Parade

—by Corbett Lovely County Agent

Mr. Grounag saw his shadow on the day he was supposed to have come out from his den. It looks as though he failed to tell the truth for we have had a lot of beautiful days recently.

Everybody will be planting a garden soon. Vegetables produced in our own gardens are better for us. We should secure a lot of recreation and enjoyable exercise raising a good garden too. Gardens are needed due to the world shortage of all food. Then too, gardens help to fight inflation which seems to be present.

If our garden hasn't been manured we should apply a 4-8-8 or 5-10-5 complete fertilizer broadcast at the rate of 200 pounds per 100 square feet. All fertilizer should be broadcast after the land is plowed, and then dragged, or harrowed in.

It is important that we plant wilt resistant varieties of cabbage, tomatoes, and water-melons. Look on the package of seed before you buy to see if it is labeled wilt resistant.

Now is the time for us to set the following in our gardens: Cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, rhubarb, onions, and lettuce. It is also time to plant radishes, turnips, mustard, spinach, lettuce, peas, rape, and potatoes. Toward the end of the month, side-dress cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower, lettuce, and onions, with nitrate of soda, 1 pound to 100 feet of row, or with dried chicken manure 1 bushel to 300 feet. This material should not be closer than about two inches of plants.

During March and to continue throughout the season, begins the campaign against garden pests. It isn't difficult to control them if we use the right materials, applying them in the right way, and begin at the right time and follow schedules strictly. In the County Agricultural Agent's office in the basement of the post office building you can secure circulars on controlling garden pests.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON. — Some people are wondering whether the fact-finding board for the meat packing industry took the trouble to read the newspapers. If so, they might not have recommended that the housewife bear the main burden of the cost of increased wages in the meat packing industry.

The fact-finding board, which included Dr. Edwin E. Witte of Wisconsin university, Chief Justice Raymond W. Starr of the Michigan Supreme court, and Clark Kerr, former chairman of the meat packing branch of the war labor board — three able men — decided that a 16-cent pay increase was fair and equitable for meat packing workers. But they added that only five cents of this was "absorbable by the meat industry without price or subsidy relief."

In other words, the fact finders recommended that the big meat packers could pay only 5 cents of the 16-cent wage increase out of their own pockets. The rest would have to be passed on to the consumer or the government. Their report was filed February 7.

However, early in December, long before the fact-finding board was appointed, a number of smaller meat packing plants had already signed contracts with the CIO and AFL for 15 cents an hour pay increase without any strings attached regarding increased meat prices.

The small packers who signed such agreements included Hygrade Food Products of New York, George A. Hormel of Austin, Minn., and others in the Chicago area.

Apparently, the fact finders did not take this into consideration. Apparently also, they ignored the fact that Swift and company previously had agreed to a pay boost of 10 cents an hour without any strings attached regarding increased meat prices to the housewife.

For, despite Swift's offer of 10 cents an hour and the smaller companies' increase of 15 cents, the fact finders recommended that only 5 cents of the 16-cent increase could be paid for by meat packers. The remaining 11 cents will be passed on to the housewife — unless the government votes a subsidy.

BREAD WASTE SCANDAL

Department of agriculture sleuths have been doing some quiet checking of unscrupulous bakeries which violate bread sales regulations in order to kill off competition.

Despite the fact that the nation has been forced on a "dark bread" diet to help feed war-starved peoples of the world, thousands of loaves of good bread are still going to waste, or being fed to hogs and chickens.

It works like this: If a big bakery is trying to grab business away from a competing bakery, it will begin supplying grocery stores on a "consignment basis," which means that grocers' shelves are loaded up with supplies of bread in excess of what they can sell.

The following day — sometimes the same day — drivers pick up the unsold loaves and replace them with fresh stock, charging the grocer only for the bread actually sold. Idea is to promote sales of a particular brand of bread because of its "freshness."

This is a violation of war food order No. 1, but it hasn't stopped certain bakeries in Houston, Texas, Richmond, Va., San Francisco, Cleveland, Kansas City and St. Louis from carrying on the practice on a huge scale.

Instead of making their returned stocks of one-day-old bread available at a reduced price to poor families, the loaves frequently wind up in garbage bins. One Texas farmer who tipped off the department of agriculture about conditions in Houston said he had been buying wagon-loads of bread "fresh enough to eat" to feed his hogs and chickens.

ATOM VS. BATTLESHIP

Unless President Truman does something drastic about it very soon, the forthcoming atomic tests in the Pacific, scientists say, may turn out to be a study in water-spouts instead of atomic energy.

On-the-surface atomic-bomb explosions, the scientists claim, will add nothing to the knowledge already accumulated from previous explosions at New Mexico, Hiroshima and Nagasaki, except that we may learn the size and damage of the world's largest water spout.

Administration lobbying to confirm Ed Pauley has reached white-hot pitch. Gov. Mon Wallgren of Washington was brought east to put the heat on Senators Magnuson and Hugh Mitchell, the latter having been Wallgren's secretary. Both will now vote for Pauley. In some states, where the November race will be close, a vote for Pauley may mean defeat for a Democrat. The Pauley-Allen-Vardaman Merry-Go-Round have evolved the latest Washington wisecrack: "Truman is suffering from Pendergastitis!"

Rabies (Hydrophobia) ease.

(Mad Dog Infection)

Reports that are coming in make us feel in the Health Dept. that we may be in for the usual Springtime epidemic of Rabies in Letcher County. A report yesterday from one section has the people alarmed of this menace, where some three or four children were bitten, and some live stock.

Since February 15th (this year) by order of the County Judge's Office, the entire county is under Quarantine against Rabies. Until a community becomes alarmed little attention seems to be given to this Court Order, yet, this order is for your safety and protection, and should be explicitly obeyed.

The public, it is felt, knows that there is a very safe and worthwhile Rabies vaccine which should be given every dog (as dogs are the chief spreader of rabies) at least annually, and probably about March or April are the months of choice, as this is the time of year when dogs are on the prowl most due to the mating season.

Rabies is very easy to PREVENT, but Fatal in 100 per cent of cases for either animal or man contracting the disease. After exposure to a rabid animal the incubation (hatching) period is usually from 20 to 40 days, and the average is around 40 days.

All dog owners certainly should have their animals given this safe protective vaccine before it is too late, and thereby causing needless worry and expense to innocent people; another safety factor is to put all dogs up at night on a leash when they are more prone to ramble.

Civic-minded citizens will want to protect their own animals by having them vaccinated, and furthermore by obeying the Quarantine Order by keeping up their dogs until further notice. All stray and ownerless dogs should be destroyed.
